Churchill once described himself, to paraphrase, as an enigma wrapped in a paradox and he was named the Western man of the first 50 years of the 20th Century, England's great wartime prime minister. Who so honored him, I am unaware.

So if this newspaper and its comment at times is puzzling, it is because we are attempting to interpret and deal with puzzling issues in a puzzling time, which compels paradoxical enigmas no different than everyday life.

We seek simple solutions one at a time amidst complex problems, not simplistic solutions which ignore the fact that things are complex.

Ideologies suffer, as Tom Paine put it, during "times which try men's souls." Like life itself, ideals evolve.

NOW - NOW - NOW

The rains stopped and work resumed in the downtown Cameron area, finishing work on curbs and street renewal.

Dust to mud and back again and a few poles come down and a lot of wires disappear and the fascination of a new shopping area outlines itself in concrete.

Asphalt paving will make all this worthwhile, though progress is as much patience as labor and planning and money.

It is good to know we have run out of none of these commodities even though the program has required seven or eight years to come to this.

The great touch is seeing the new jail go up on the other side of the courthouse and old warehouse come down, at least doubling the efforts of so many for so substantial a change in so few blocks.

City of Cameron has the idea now with purchase of buildings across from City Hall. And that area someday may well be more park or offstreet parking where ramshackle now stands.

But in a weaker moment, I'd trade it all for a clean windshield when the mire is hubcap high and the dust is enough to obscure a Longhorn bull.

CLEANING UP THE POLE LINE - TP&L workmen are busy "cleaning up the pole line" in the downtown urban renewal area. Some of the poles will be removed and wiring changed to produce a less cluttered look to the downtown area.

R-L Trustees Seek Correction Of Leaking Roof

The Rosebud-Lott school board of trustees have retained a law firm to deal with the architect and contractors that built the new junior and high school building in Travis.

The roof of the building leaks, trustees said. Water comes down inside the building in some places as if there is no roof at all, they noted. There have been patch jobs and more repairs, but damage to the buildings becomes more extensive as each rain falls.

In September the board agreed to hire the Waco law firm of Sleeper, Williams, Johnston, Helm and Estes to proceed to institute suit against all appropriate parties for damages and any and all other relief concerning the defects existing as a result of design and construction of the new building.

Jerry Jamison, from the law firm, was present for the trustee meeting in Travis Tuesday evening, and he reported that letters had been mailed to all parties concerned, and told that no official replies had been received.

An engineer has been retained by the school to make a thorough investigation of the building and its damages resulting from the leaking roof.

Area Roundup Dogs Draw Councilman's Ire

ROCKDALE

A city councilman and the city manager of Rockdale got into a "dog fight" during a called city council meeting. John Sonntag minced no words in condemning the action of police in shooting stray dogs on the streets when the new city leash law calls for strays to be impounded for three days to give owners a chance to reclaim them. City manager N. E. Alford said the police were acting at his direction and that the was having the dogs disposed of under the city's "old ordinance," not the new one, Rockdale has no dog pound.

'Walk For Hunger' Planned

CALDWELL

Approximately 300 Caldwell citizens are expected to participate in a ten-mile "Walk For Hunger" beginning at 2 p.m. on November 4 at the courthouse square. The walk is a project of CROP, the Community Hunger Appeal of Church World Service. CROP's objective is to collect funds and commodities from the community to support the overseas programs of Church World Service.

Gas Rates May Go Up

HEARNE

Hearne City Engineer Jim Harless reported to the city council on a meeting he had with a Lone Star Gas Co. official. He said he was told that when the present city contract expires in December the cost of natural gas to the power plant will be increased by almost 60 per cent. Natural gas at present is costing the city 30 cents per MCF over a yearly average. The official mentioned a figure of 47.5 cents per MCF after December. The city does not have a fuel adjustment clause.

Mood Hall Now Museum

GEORGETOWN

Mood Hall, on the campus of Southwestern University, was completed and put to use as a men's dormitory in 1908 and in the ensuing years has served several roles. This month, however, it took on a new one. Now it's a museum. Probably the most historic relic on display at the hall is a bell that originally ding-donged its message to students of the first Methodist College in Texas, Soule University at Chapel Hill, established in 1848.

DDD Comes To Rosebud

ROSEBUD

Continental Telephone Co. officials "threw the switch" at 10:30 Oct. 10, adding a new dimension to the telephone service in Rosebud. The conversion to Direct Distance Dialing went smoothly, according to the district manager.

Bloodhounds To Chase Runaways

GATESVILLE

Through arrangements worked out between the county commissioners court and Texas Youth Council officials, the Coryell sheriff's department is to get some of the State Schools for Boys bloodhounds for use in locating runaways from the reform school. In September the Texas Youth council ordered the bloodhounds removed from the state schools and 30 dogs were transferred to the Texas Department of Corrections. Area residents protested the decision and asked for continued use of the dogs.

United Fund Agency...

Baseball Program Serves Youth

(Another in a series of stories about United Fund agencies. A drive for $9,000 will start in November.)

Cameron Little League Association is a growing, going concern, sponsoring a program during the summer that involves over two hundred boys and girls.

One of the biggest problems faced by the association during the past years has been the difficulty of scheduling a large number of ball games each week on one playing field.

Some of the pressure will go off hopefully next summer when a new ball field at the Cameron Airpark will go into operation.

The new field has been supported by a fund drive among citizens of Cameron and was recently helped by $1,500 from the city. The United Fund donation will be $600.

There were five Little League and Minor League teams last summer including about 130 boys, two Pony League teams involving about 30 older boys, and three girls softball teams with an estimated 50 to 60 girls playing, all on the same field.

Support of the teams has been by profits from the concession stand, run by the ladies auxiliary of the LL Association, who donate sandwiches for the stand, and also sell other goodies during the games.

But with an increasing number of boys and addition of girls teams, more support is needed than can be provided by the concession stand. The $600 from United Fund will go either for new equipment or for paying bills on the new field.

All labor for the new field was donated by interested individuals and businessmen, and a substantial discount was received on materials for the concession stand, the seating area, and restrooms.

Long-range plans of the Association call for another new field to be built north of the one under construction. A spokesman said the new field will be less expensive, since the concession stand and rest rooms will already be built. Other expenses include those for fencing, lighting and seating.

The Little League program is the only one presently in operation in Cameron that involves such a number of youth, giving them an opportunity for recreation during the summer months.

Mao's Exercises Catch On In US

By Leonard Santorelli

NEW YORK

Reuter -- Chairman Mao tells his people to build communism by exercising daily and capitalist America is cashing in on his thoughts with a new keep-fit fad.

The course of simple calisthenics which he has urged his 800 million followers to do in their factories and communes every day has been neatly packaged into a booklet, with an accompanying record, and is now on sale in the United States.

The booklet, selling at a dollar a copy, is aimed at housewives, office workers, and other with sedentary jobs, who are becoming increasingly preoccupied with keeping trim. The complete workout can be done in four minutes flat.

The social drawbacks of being fat, to say nothing of the hazards of heart disease, have already spawned a whole industry of exercising gadgets, health clubs, diet cults, and chic jogging clothes in this country.

The author is an Australian doctor living in San Diego, California, Maxwell Howell, who said he got the idea for the book during a visit to China. "If 800 million Chinese do it it can't be too bad," he told Reuter.

Exercises are designed to keep the major muscles toned up, rather than to enlarge them. They consist of flexing the arms, kicking the legs, twisting the body, and touching toes.

Howell said they are best performed rhythmically to the accompanying record by the Central China Philharmonic Society. English words have been dubbed: "Chairman Mao says physical culture improves the health of the nation... running on the spot..."

Asked if he would try to win converts away from the Canadian Air Force 5-BX exercises, which are far more vigorous and have a large following in the United States, Howell says his course would be an alternative to the 5-BX, which he described as "very boring."

Howell said the exercises, which are a carbon copy of those performed daily by countless Chinese, are more beneficial if combined with, say, a running program that will strengthen the heart and lung system.

"In China, they stop the schools and universities for the exercises. People do them in the public parks. The Chinese are fitter by a mile and the exercises have to be a factor," he said.

Building Inspector Reviews Ordinances

Edwin Bigbee, city code and building inspector, this week reviewed several city ordinances recently passed which affect residents of the city.

Three of the most recent include abandoned motor vehicles, Southern Standard Building Code, and building permits.

The ordinance on abandoned motor vehicles defines the vehicle as junked, dismantled, partially dismantled, inoperative, abandoned, discarded, wrecked or not properly licensed. The ordinance provides that if the vehicle is not moved within ten days after having received a notice, the police department may take possession and dispose of it.

The owner may be served with a citation to appear in court on a misdemeanor charge. If the owner is found guilty as charged he is subject to a fine of not less than ten dollars or more than $100 for each motor vehicle.

The Southern Building Code's minimum standards include that all buildings, both existing and new, shall be maintained in a safe and sanitary condition.

That ordinance provides that all buildings or structures which are unsafe, unsanitary, or not provided with adequate egress, or which constitute a fire hazard, or which constitute a hazard to safety or health by reason of delapidation or abandonment are unsafe buildings. All such buildings are illegal and the owner will be notified and a red warning sign attached to the structure.

On building permits, the ordinance states that no walk-in oral requests for any type of building permit is acceptable. Application forms may be secured from the building department on request. These must be filled in by answering all questions and signed by the applicant.

Applications shall be accompanied by an accurate plot plan, submitted in duplicate and drawn to scale. All dimensions shown on such plans relating to the location and size of lot to be built upon shall be based on an actual survey by a qualified registered surveyor.

We Earthly UFOs....

If not an epidemic, a rash at least of UFO sightings has occurred during the past week.

It seems to relate to stories by two Mississippi fishermen who under hypnosis have continued to tell of seeing extra-terrestrial beings. Scientists are saying their stories stand up to inquiry.

Most sightings follow a pattern of seeing some light object in the sky, perhaps blue, orange, yellow or glowing all three, which moves at unusual speeds, angles and appears to have no relation to known objects.

Studies underway through 1969 about "unidentified flying objects" concluded there was no proof of space vehicles or space "men." A number of sightings by professional observers, engineers, pilots went unexplained, but no one could continue inquiry because the objects were only memory.

Most are explained as mistaken identity of weather balloons (about a dozen were released at Palestine, Texas, the other day), planet Mars, stars, reflections from clouds, even planes too distant to hear.

But the Mississippians describe creatures which "have a projection where a nose would be in a man, if it were a man, have round things which would be feet if they were feet and a face without eyes and only the suggestion of a mouth if it were a mouth."

One of the fisherman, a younger man, passed out after seeing the creatures and their vehicle. The older of the two in a TV interview seemed clear and certain, if not dumbfounded by what he saw. The observations apparently stand up under inquiry, both conscious and under hypnosis.

People continue to doubt the prospect, not the mere possibility, of extra-terrestrial beings traveling to earth, curious at what we are as our spacemen are curious at what they find on the moon or what they might find in a habitable planet. But doubt is fear and fear is not knowing.

Our education processes somehow must assure people that such things must exist, that Russia only the other day acknowledged signals from outer space without any earthly explanation, that we are not the only beings nor the only habitable planet amidst billions of others in the universe.

Milam County had an unexplained sighting some years ago in a rural area. A TV newsman at Temple only the other day saw a flying object he could not explain.

Psychiatrists admonish that a certain "imagination" which suggests a minor hysteria prevails when rashes of this kind are diagnosed anything but imagination. They suggest the mind sees what is suggested it might see, by great numbers under the influence of reports of unknown factors that let their fancies fly.

But there are inexplicable sightings, measured speeds, accurate, if not incredible descriptions of things which glow in the night and pick up two Mississippi fishermen at Pascagoula.

There is something out there, all right. And we earthlings are being studied, unidentified objects to space travelers who know answers to time, distance and matter we continue to seek.

Protection Sought For Bears

OTTAWA
Reuter -- Five countries are negotiating an agreement to protect the endangered polar bear.

Now in final drafting stages, the agreement is expected to be signed next month in Norway by representatives of Canada, Norway, Denmark, the Soviet Union and the United States.

The only countries with polar bear populations, they have been negotiating the agreement for several years.

Conservationists estimate there are fewer than 20,000 polar bears left in the world, more than half of them in northern Canada.

The agreement is expected to stress co-operative management techniques and related matters such as the preservation of the habitats where the bears make their dens.

Sources say it won't bring an end to polar bear hunting, but each country has agreed to stop hunting the huge mammals on Arctic ice fields that run out beyond their territorial limits.

However, it is not clear yet how far territorial jurisdiction will extend for all countries. Canada claims a 100-mile offshore limit for Arctic pollution control. Distances vary in the other countries. A compromise is expected when the parties meet for the final negotiations.

About 500 polar bears are killed annually in Canada under a quota system administered by the Northwest Territories government.

Some countries, including the Soviet Union, have urged a total hunting ban. But Canada has refused, arguing that its hunt is well controlled and does not threaten the bears' survival.

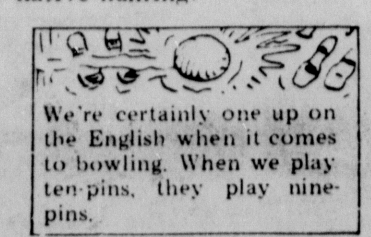

It has also refused to abolish the traditional hunting rights of natives.

Polar bear hunting is restricted to natives except for a handful of sport-hunting permits costing $2,000 each.

This "sport" hunt was approved by the territorial government in 1966 as a means of raising incomes for Eskimos but has provoked controversy ever since.

Fewer than 20 bears were shot by sport hunters last year and there is division among the natives over the merits of the scheme.

Inuit Tapirisat of Canada, the national Eskimo brotherhood, adopted a resolution at its annual meeting this year calling for abolition of the sport hunt, but urging fewer restrictions on native hunting.

We're certainly one up on the English when it comes to bowling. When we play ten-pins, they play nine-pins.

"A MURDER? Oh, I love murder!" exclaims neurotic, eccentric Christopher Wren (Sam Fincher) whose love of the macabre and children's nursery rhymes makes him a prime suspect in Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap at the Temple Civic Theatre. Miss Casewell, played by Lana Lacey, brings the news of the murder into Monkswell Manor with a rather sinister delight, and Giles Ralston (Jim Plank) is horrified by both of his guests. Play detective and pinpoint a murder at the Temple Civic Theatre October 19, 20, 25, 26, 27 at 8:15 p.m., 7th and Avenue G.

National Theatre Of Deaf Begins Its Seventh Season

By Lloyd Timberlake

NEW YORK
Reuter -- The National Theatre of the Deaf begins its seventh season as one of the most successful, in fact one of the only, touring theatre companies in the United States.

And according to their director, David Hays, a man untroubled by false modesty, the troupe of 10 deaf and three hearing actors is also one of the most talented. "All their lives deaf people have had to struggle to communicate, and the way they solve this problem is very similar to acting," Hays said. "Deaf people are born actors."

Over the past year the National Theatre of the Deaf ("of the deaf, not for the deaf, get that straight," says Hays) has toured the United States and Europe with its own interpretation of Gilgamesh, the Sumerian epic pre-dating Homer by 1,500 years.

The critics raved, though the critics found it difficult to explain exactly what was

Defensive Driving Course Set

A new section in defensive driving instruction will begin Tuesday (Oct. 23) at Temple Junior College. Successful completion of the eight-hour course entitles the student to receive a 10 per cent deduction on his liability insurance for three years.

Defensive driving at TJC is taught by Stanley Churchill, director of the technical-vocational division, and Kenneth Payne and Dave Wilde of the Temple Police Department.

Classes meet Tuesday and Thursday for two weeks, from 7 to 9 p.m. in Room 207, Berry Hall. Fee is $10.

Also beginning next week at TJC are non-credit courses in knitting and magazine writing. These classes will meet four consecutive Tuesday nights from 7 to 9:30 p.m. Fees are $8.25 for knitting course and $9 for the magazine writing (freelance) course.

Anyone interested in the knitting or magazine writing instruction is asked to call Douglas Ferrill, director of the TJC Continuing Education Program.

going on stage.

"-- A highly professional company with an extraordinary medium of visual language which works very beautifully indeed," said the London Times.

"-- A new discovery of art... An elegance of gesture reaching a superb level of expression," said Milan's Corriere Della Sera.

"All the strength and beauty of poetry... found its proper place on the hands and faces of these great artists," said the Politka of Belgrade.

Yet critics hesitate to describe the mechanics of the performance because any such description reduces dramatic virtuosity to the novelty atmosphere of a trained seal act. The emphasis changes from what is being done on stage to the fact that it is being done by the deaf.

Hays admits that the troupe's first audiences came probably through curiosity, a sense of novelty, "an affinity for the deaf" -- like buying straw mats made by the handicapped.

Yet now audiences come because they know "the medium is very handsome. The actors have tremendous energy. They are not people standing on stage speaking through holes in their faces. It is a theatre of both sound and sight."

The deaf actors use a combination mime and "sign language" -- not the "finger spelling" in which one motion equals a letter, but the broader signs in which an entire word or idea is conveyed in a one or two-handed motion.

It is the difference between speaking and singing, offers Hays.

The stage is not silent. All the actors speak, but only the three hearing actors speak extensively, as well as making signs. Their speeches serve as a sort of "translation" (though Hays doesn't like that concept. He holds no translation is needed) and extension of the action.

Accompanying the drama is music performed on the stainless steel sculpt-instruments designed by Bernard and Francois Baschet. These mainly percussive devices are seen more often in museums than in use on stage or in concert.

The props are sparse. In Gilgamesh, stage furniture consisted almost entirely of bamboo poles which were made to serve as houses, dragons, weapons and symbols.

Hays had originally thought that since they were a visual theatre, props should be lavish. By experience he learned, however, that there was so much going on at any given moment in the hand and body language of each actor that fancy props were superfluous and cumbersome.

For the new season the troupe is preparing in its O'Neill Memorial Theatre Center headquarters in Waterford, Connecticut, an adaptation of Voltaire's novel Candide, to be called "Optimism, or the Misadventures of Candide."

MENTAL HEALTH MATTERS

Bertram S. Brown, M.D., Director
National Institute of Mental Health

You may have heard of electroshock--and recall it as being controversial and having something to do with the treatment of mental illness.

But just what is electroshock? First, it's more appropriately called electroconvulsive therapy (known among professional workers as "ECT") because its objective is not "shock."

In simple terms, ECT is a method for treating mentally ill patients by administering medically controlled convulsive seizures by means of electricity.

The patient is put to sleep with an intravenous anesthetic. This is followed by drug medication which relaxes the muscles of the body.

The therapist then applies an electric current to the scalp, producing seizures and convulsions which consist of twitching of the muscles.

Other kinds of "convulsive therapy" are also used in addition to that produced by electric shocks. These include giving the patient inhalations of an ether-like gas after he is asleep or giving him a chemical convulsant agent, a drug, injected intravenously.

What patients are chosen for ECT? The general answer is those with psychoses or severe neuroses who require intensive treatment, usually in a hospital. Severe depression, the depressive phase of manic-depressive illness, is said to be the main indication for ECT.

Is there any danger with ECT? The general answer here is that there is an element of danger. Those who employ the method feel that it is safe or that its calming or other effects outweigh its hazards. Others do not.

Theater Seeking Skripts

GEORGETOWN

A search for hidden talent in the writing field is underway in the Georgetown area . . . and in any area in the countryside where authors or would-be authors might be lurking.

It's the dream of every budding writer to see his work produced. So . . . the Georgetown Area Community Theater is offering an opportunity to area authors or playwrights (whether they be young, middle-aged, old, retired or tired) to get in the act and prepare a script of the melodrama type to be produced by GACT during the 1974 season.

The script should have local color and involve community or area people directly or indirectly. Playwrights should submit scripts to Dr. Bob McKay, GACT president, or to Mrs. Gin Dodson, GACT vice-president. A panel of qualified judges will select the best script for production by the Georgetown Area Community Theater.

Here's an opportunity to get in the act and write some acts.

Yoe Stung By Hornets Might

By Glynn Cummings

A second quarter touchdown and a 29 yard field goal stung the Cameron Yoemen, as the Gatesville Hornets swarmed past the Yoemen in a 10-0 district victory Friday night at Hornet Stadium. The win gave Gatesville a 2-0 district record and brought Cameron's to 1-1.

Gatesville hosted a powerful passing attack with quarterback Johnny Gann completing 8 passes for 131 yards. Four of the completions were to end Tommy Davidson for 89 yards.

Ralph Brown was Gatesville's leading rusher with 77 yards on 21 carries and George Whiteside led the Yoemen with 53 yards on 16 attempts.

Gatesville's first touchdown came with 5:12 left in the first half, as the Hornet's drove 75 yards in 10 plays. Gann completed two passes to lead the drive, one to Jimmy Driver for 25 yards and one to Davidson for 13 yards. Freshman tailback Mike Fisher capped the drive on a 17 yard scamper and Gann kicked the extra point.

However, Gatesville's 7-0 lead was threatened as the Yoemen drove down to the Gatesville 34 yard line. On first down, Whiteside received a screen pass and carried down to the Hornet 5 yard line, where he fumbled the ball into the end zone. Neither team was able to gain possession of the ball and a touchback was ruled, giving the ball to Gatesville on the 20 yard line. The first half ended, and Gatesville led 7-0.

Following the second half kick-off, a fired up Yoemen team blocked a Gatesville punt, and Donald Fleming recovered the loose ball on the Hornet 15.

The Yoemen drove down to the 7 yard line, but on 3 and goal from the 7, Gatesville safety Aubrey Ortega intercepted a pass in the Yoe end zone.

Gatesville increased its lead on the next series of downs as they drove 74 yards to the Yoe 6. The Cameron defense stiffened and on 4 and goal from the 6, Gatesville settled for a field goal. With 4:09 left in the third quarter, Gatesville now led 10-0.

With 10:33 left in the game, the Yoemen put together their own passing attack and drove the ball 52 yards down to the Hornet 19. On 3 and 16 Jafus White carried down to the one, but a penalty nullified the gain and moved the ball back to the 29 yard line. On the next play Gatesville's Gary Keeton intercepted a Smitherman pass on the Hornet 12 yard line. Key passes in the drive went to Garv Hornung for 21 yards, Mike White for 19 yards and again from Smitherman to White for 5 yards.

Plays later Gatesville was forced into a punting situation, and a bobbled snap and powerful rush caused the Gatesville punter to be trapped on his own 7 yard line. With 3:49 left remaining it looked as if Cameron was back in the ball game.

However, a strong Gatesville defense forced the Yoemen to turn the ball over on the Hornet 20, and all hopes of a Yoemen victory were crushed.

Cameron, haunted all night by interceptions but blessed with three scoring opportunities in the last half, fell to the Gatesville Hornets 10-0.

Jonesboro started the scoring during the second half as Ronnie Miller raced 40 yards. However, the Badgers bounced back on a 20 yard pass from Orsag to Krall.

Yoe JV , Frosh Defeat Hornets

Thursday night the Yoe Junior varsity and freshmen captured district victories against Gatesville. The Junior varsity defeated the Hornets 22-16 and the Yoe freshmen defeated the Hornet freshmen 38-0.

During the freshmen game Gatesville scored early as they drove 65 yards with Kennedy scoring from the 10.

The Yoemen wasted no time in crushing Gatesville's lead. After receiving the Hornet kick-off, Aaron Miller raced 80 yards for the first Yoemen score. Donald Komar passed to Sam Green for the extra points and the Yoe Freshmen led 8-6.

Cameron scored again late in the first quarter as Greg Kelley ran 4 yards to cap a 68 yard drive. Brian Wilkerson carried for the extra points and at the end of the first quarter Cameron led 16-8.

Gatesville scored first in the second quarter on a 84 yard touchdown run, and Aaron Miller scored for Cameron on a 42 yard scamper. Komar carried for the extra points and with 3:29 remaining in the first half Cameron led 24-12.

Following the kick-off, the Yoe defense held the Hornets and Cameron took over on downs on the Hornet 44 yard line. Wilkerson scored from the 5 yard line plays later and Komar again added the extra points. The Yoe freshmen led at half-time 32-12.

Both defenses toughened during the second half, and little scoring was done.

Gatesville scored early in the fourth quarter, and again late in the fourth quarter on a 11 yard run by Williams.

Cameron "scored" on a 5 yard run by Wilkerson with 5:43 left in the game. The final score was Cameron freshmen 38 - Gatesville 26.

In the junior varsity game, Gatesville scored on the first series of downs. Bobby Hamilton scored from the one, capping a 76 yard drive. There was no other scoring during the first quarter and Gatesville led 8-0.

Cameron tied the game up early in the second quarter as quarterback Randy Sapp ran 28 yards for the touchdown. The extra point attempt was successful.

Cameron scored first during the second half on a 1 yard plunge by Manners, capping a 65 yard drive. Alan Jones kicked the extra point and the Yoe JV led 15-8.

Following the kick-off Gatesville drove 62 yards for a touchdown and the try for extra points was successful. The Hornets now led 16-15.

Cameron's next touchdown was set up by a pass interception by Manners on the Yoe 37 yard line. Manners returned the ball to the Gatesville 46 and plays later Manners scored the winning touchdown on a 3 yard run.

Gatesville drove down to the Yoe 12, but Jimmy Kohutek pounced on a Hornet fumble. The final score was Cameron JV 22, Gatesville JV 16.

In other action the Cameron 8th grade fell to the Gatesville 8th grade 8-0 and the Yoe 7th grade fell to the Gatesville 7th grade 20-0.

Cougars Defeat Eagles , 78-30

The Jarrell Cougars commanded a strong running and passing effort to defeat the Milano Eagles 78-30 Friday night, in six-man football action.

The Cougars wasted no time, scoring in the first quarter on a 62-yard run by Billy Meyers and a 9 yard run by Gordon Crum.

Milano scored next on a 15 yard pass from Jimmy Mills to Mike Walker. Mills kicked the extra point and Jarrell's lead was decreased to 12-8.

However Milano's narrow point margin was short lived because Jarrell exploded for six touchdowns during the second quarter.

Meyers passed 18 yards to Crum, Douglas Bamsch returned a punt 56 yards. Crum passed to Meyers from the 10, Meyers passed to Bamsch, Meyers passed 36 yards to Joey Jaramillo and Will Wright passed to James Hughes from 4 yards out.

Milano scored once again as Jimmy Mills ran 41 yards for the touchdown and the second half ended with a 56-14 Cougar lead.

Jarrell again scored quickly at the beginning of the second half. Crum carried 21 yards for a touchdown and Johnny Cassens tackled Milano's Mills in the end zone for a safety. Milano scored next on an 8 yard run by Wilson and again on a safety plays later.

Jarrell went to work once again and scored on an interception by Crum and a 28 yard run by Meyers. This gave Jarrell a 78-30 lead and the game was called because of the 40 point rule.
